

CASE NOTE REVIEWERS REQUIRED NCEPOD study on “Crohn’s Disease”

NCEPOD is undertaking a study to explore the remediable factors in the quality of care provided to patients aged 16 and over with a diagnosis of Crohn’s disease, who underwent an abdominal surgical procedure.

We are recruiting a multi-disciplinary group of healthcare professionals with a working interest in the care of people with Crohn’s disease.

Case reviewers will be asked to attend meetings during which they will assess case note extracts and questionnaires and provide expert opinion on the quality of healthcare received by people with Crohn’s disease, who are admitted to hospital for a surgical procedure. The training day will be held in February 2022 via MS Teams, date to be confirmed (if you are unable to make this date, training on an ad hoc basis is possible). You would typically be required to attend/join a minimum of 4 subsequent case reviewer meetings at the NCEPOD offices in London or via MS Teams. It is anticipated case review meetings will begin in March 2022 and will run for approximately 6 months. The data collected during these meetings will form a major part of the study’s final report. Travel expenses will be reimbursed.

We are looking for senior clinicians from a wide variety of specialties, including (and not limited to) colorectal surgery, gastrointestinal surgery, gastroenterology, emergency medicine, acute medicine, anaesthesia, intensive care medicine, interventional radiology, dieticians, and nursing (including critical care, stoma care and IBD specialist).

We aim to recruit clinicians from different clinical grades of at least ST6 and above to ensure that applicants have enough experience for the case note review aspect. Applicants should be in current clinical practice.

Further information about this study including a copy of the study protocol can be found on the webpage:
